

Followed Friend's Advice

After trying Frutola and Traxo, Mrs. L. C. Clark, 840 Meiba St., Dallas, Texas, wrote to the Pinue laboratories as follows:

"I have been a sufferer from gall-stones, and Frutola and Traxo was recommended and I am glad to say I took advantage of your most wonderful medicine, with wonderful results."

Frutola and Traxo are two remedies that are used in combination. Frutola acts on the intestinal organs as a powerful lubricant, softening the congested waste and breaking up the hardened particles so that easy elimination follows quickly, to the great relief of the patient. Traxo is a compound of splendid tonic properties, of special value in strengthening and restoring the system that has been weakened by constant suffering.

The Pinue laboratories have many letters on file testifying to the merit of Frutola and Traxo, letters from people who have used the remedy and know how from actual experience what it has done for them. For the convenience of the public, arrangements have been made to supply Frutola and Traxo through leading drug stores. In Anderson they can be obtained at Evans' Pharmacy, three stores.

JOLLY GOOD CIRCUS IN SPITE OF WEATHER

STREET PARADE HAD TO BE CALLED OFF BECAUSE OF MUD

ANIMALS IMMENSE

Silas and Mary With Thousands of Others Revealed at Barnum and Bailey's Show.

"Well people, it sure was a crack-brack," said Silas Green, as he emerged from Barnum & Bailey's big white tents. "Yes, sir-re, it had that street carnival down home last year beat a whole doggone mile."

"Me and my wife came down to Anderson just to see that circus that we had a-arn tell of, and people, it was a regular lalapalooza. Blamed if they weren't so much that one time I just er closed my eyes, cause I didn't know which way to look. My wife, she is er lot smarter 'an me, and she says, 'Silas, I'm just gwine to say 'Enl-Meni-Mini-Mo., catch a nigger by the toe,' and whatever place that puts me, that's what I'm going to watch," and then I says to my wife: "Mary, you're zactly right." But the first thing I knew I was lookin' at one ring and then I was lookin' at another, and one of those pretty girls in tights, started to a-actin' and then Mary she'd say, 'Silas, hadn't you better look the other way?' To be particular, people, I'll tell you that it sure was some show, and if Mary hadn't been with me, I'd gone in that er side show, where the lady plays with the snakes. But Mary said there weren't going to be a respectable man like me.

"I was terribly disappointed when that fellow in that big automobile said there weren't going to be a parade, cause if Mary and me had seen the parade we might not have gone to the show. But people, I's glad the parade didn't come for the regular show was enough for a lifetime. Honestly, folk, I didn't know there was so many actor people in the world. Why if that er circus went to my home, there'd be more people in the show than in the whole blamed town.

Sausages for Sale.

"When I went on the field a fellow asked me to buy a sausage. He said it was a weiner or something like that. But another fellow, who was standing near me, told Mary that it wasn't anything but a hotdog. A nice guy said to me that he didn't suppose I raised my pup to be a sausage, and I told him if anybody harmed my dog Zip that I be dogged if I wouldn't tell our deputy Sheriff.

"Gee, people, but those city folk show do crowd and push about the place where you go into that circus. I don't think some of them ever seed a circus before. In the animal tent I show saw lots. Mary said that those baby lions and tigers, were awfully sweet. There was another baby animal, too, but I can't remember the name. Some fellow said it was a kangaroo, but I never hearn of a such animal. I had always hearn tell of elephants, and I said to the man with a uniform on: 'Mister, is this an elephant, and he said, 'Yes, what'd you think it is?' And then I asked another fellow with brass buttons why those lions walked around in their cages and he said it was because they had nowhere else to walk. I tell you, people, it was some show."

And as Silas Green thought Barnum & Bailey's 1915 exhibition the best he had ever seen, so did the other people who crowded the big tents, afternoon and night. Barnum & Bailey has the best show it has had in years and it is safe to say that it is the best Anderson has seen in many day.

Spick and Span.

The show has been on the road since last March, but this couldn't have been told from the costumes, the stock or any of the equipment. There was that delightful spangly tent makes the equestrian ever so dear, and the sleekness to the horses that adds quality. There was one star act going on at the same time as another star act, and these followed by other star acts equally as good.

The baseball game in which one elephant was Grover Cleveland Alexander, with Burns catching and Hooper at the bat, was immense. Hooper hit a home run, and it was necessary for him to slide in home to complete the circuit. A fearless woman entered a cage of ferocious beasts, and managed them with a gentle hand. Signor Bagonghi, hailed as the world's smallest rider, could not have been much less and been at all, but just the same he was a clever performer. His diminutive stature added his act. The act beautiful, posing by men, women and horses, was well done. "It's a bear, it's a bear," cried the huge enthusiastic, when Pallenberg's Rocky mountain brides walked a tight rope and rode a bicycle. Marcella's acting birds were well trained. The band was extra good.

The crowd grew enthusiastic when Bird Millman did her stunt. "The dainty dainty queen of the wire," rode the program, and the program states it correctly. She has grace and charm, and her work is a feature of the Barnum show. The Hanneford family, on their first visit, Anderson made a decided hit. They gave their lively bareback riding a novel touch, and their act was a delightful part of the entertainment.

The Man Behind.

"I'm always with the fellow whose behind," said Silas Green after the show, "and blamed it every one of ### Minister Gives Testimony.

The Rev. C. M. Knighton, Havana, Fla., writes: "For three months I suffered intense pain in kidneys and back, which at times laid me up entirely. I read of Foley Kidney Pills and after trying various remedies without result I decided to try the Foley treatment. I was relieved almost with the first dose and it is a fact that I used only 1-2 bottles when all of the pains disappeared. I am 55 years of age and now feel like a young man again. Sold everywhere."

Recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a bad, bronchial cough. I felt its beneficial effect immediately and before I had finished the bottle I was cured. I never tire of recommending this remedy to my friends," writes Mrs. William Bright, Ft. Wayne, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

those racers that was behind when they begun didn't come out ahead. There's something mighty suspicious about that, and the fellow who wanted to bet me a glass of pink lemonade on the horses behind must have been to a circus before."

Last night as Silas Green and Mary, his wife, jogged along the lonely country road they said but little, tracing in their minds the scenes of the day. Finally the silence was broken. "Silas," says Mary, "this is the most wonderful time I've ever had." And Silas, with moistened eyes, looked at his wife and wished that his share of worldly goods had been such as to have given her more.

As the last light of the circus train passed around the curve early this morning Silas and Mary and many others were dreaming of the wild African jungles, of beasts and of birds, of spangled ladies and of pretty horses. They could hear of peanuts, pop corn, chewing gum and cigarettes, the splats of the side-show man, and the cry of programs for a dime, and a real wild west concert for 15 cents. But these things including all the pink lemonade that you can drink for a nickel, go to make up circus day.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Smith, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

Every Man Needs An Anchor

WHATEVER else you are compelled to give up during this period of readjustment, don't give up your insurance. It is a hard-times proposition—that is, you need it more when business is below normal than you do when things are coming your way.

In this modern day of uncertainty, insurance is the one thing that a fellow can count upon in adversity. Other investments may prove of no account. Many a man has believed himself to be in good financial condition, only to awaken in the morning to find that he wasn't worth a cent. But the man who is insured is absolutely certain that in the event he is called to the Great Beyond those dependent upon him will have something to count upon.

Not only should one manage to keep up his insurance at this time, but he should take out more of it, if it is at all possible. For the man unskilled in handling money, there is no other investment any safer—and even the fellow who supposes he knows all about handling money is frequently mistaken. If there had not been a place in the economy of things for the insurance companies they would long ago have been forced out of business—Editorial, Dayton (O.), Daily News, January 13, 1915.

WHEN a man insures with the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company he invests his savings in as strong and safe an institution as there is in the world. Furthermore, under a Mutual Benefit policy by taking advantage of any one of the valuable settlement options he may safeguard the interests of his beneficiaries who may not be versed in financial matters.

Such a policy is the strongest kind of an anchor to windward. In fact, such protection is essential in disturbed times like these!
